While referring to the freedom and satisfaction which Christian Science gives, I do not mean to imply that these blessings are confined solely to the individual. is true that the demonstration or proof of the truth revealed by Christian Science begins with the individual; but, "whatever blesses one blesses all" (Science and Health, p. 206), so that, while within the reach of all. Christian Science is world-wide, universal in its scope and influence. Every individual, every nation to-day is looking for the solution of some problem or other; is looking for salvation from what appears to be the presence activity, or power of evil. "Salvation" comes from the Latin word meaning "to save" or "preserve from evil." The very earliest records of the history of man show that protection or safety from evil, or "salvation," has been sought by appealing to some invisible deity, some invisible power about which little has generally been known. Sacrifices. human and others, were offered with a view to insuring the protection of that power or deity. Idois also were made to represent some god, and they were worshipped with the result that is well known to all students of the Bible. An idel is a false god an attempt to create a material image or likeness of Spirit, which is impossible.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Speaking at the annual meeting vesterday of the Ex-Active Service Men's Association, Mr. S. C. Feltham, Chairman, referring to the activities of the Association during the past year said that there was not a great deal to say about the report and balance sheet, although the latter did not show a very good balance. This was partly due to the fact that a large number of members had not paid their subscriptions acting as pilots, observers, of $5 per year and had not sup- bombers but the mechanics are mostported the Club as they should have done. Gentle familiar:and uncomplaining, she went about always, in the same simple little black dress, doing her errands of mercy while the London streets were blazing with fewellery and furs, and the sounds of revelry at night were mingled! with the booming of the Zeppelin

"Once only the Queen murmured, and that was when she was told she must give up her beloved horses and dogs. Only the very smallest minimum was left to her, as her much-straitened income was not sufficient to keep so many pets. It was a bitter sacrifice, for Queens are often lonely, and dogs are their sincerest friends."

Her greatest joy in her later days was the love and care which the members of her family bestow upon her. Rarely a day passed when both were in London that the King did not visit his mother at Mariborough House, usually remaining to lunch, while both the Queen and the Prince of Wales were almost equally as regular in their visits.

Queen Alexandra's health was recently quite good, and distinctly. better than was the case twelve months earlier when her eyes were commencing to give her considerable trouble. Naturally she was beginning to assume a rather frail appearance, and she was not capable of the same amount exertion as she was able to undertake with ease ten years ago. while she saved her eyes on all possible occasions, having books and newspaper read to her place of reading them for herself.

London has always had a very warm corner in its heart for-Queen Alexandra as its wonderful demonstration as she drove to Westminster Abbey recently amply proved. She reciprocated the feeling to the full, as she had shown on many occasions in the past. "London is my home." she declared, on a memorable occasion years ago, and she greatly enjoyed the almost daily drives that she took through its streets.

An unusual accident occurred in the Royal Navy v. Surreys match at the H.K.C.C. ground on Wednesday. Midshipman R. H. Stephenson, who tops the batting averages in both divisions, went in first wicket down and was given out, leg before wicket, no appeal having been made by any of the fielding side. Captain C. D. Armstrong, the Surreys skipper, went into the pavilion and asked Stephenson to resume batting. Lieut.Col. A. S. Cantrell, R.M., who was the Naval skipper, however, forbade Stephenson to continue batting and the incident closed.

As reported elsewhere, the University may find the "exams" team a more difficult task than cricket, hence postponement.
